

Backlog feedback

No issues so far. Lot of a items and they have labels. Problem: description for issues that aren't clear.

Code of conduct feedback

Update the code of conduct several times throughout the project. Things need to be concrete e.g., how late can you before you are late etc. Upload every iteration of the code of conduct on Brightspace.

API endpoints

At the end of the week, we should have one API endpoint, there is one already in the template of the project, it would be nice if we could do some extra things with them.

HCI

Ta doesn't care if it is a group that reviews the HCI, it can be anyone

Activity bank

Crowdsourcing with the questions from all the groups (image + json file)

Gitlab

We can do whatever we want with the pipeline.

Issues good to have a list of what we need to do so we can check whatever we have done, deadline, labels other than could/should/must have, time estimate of the task (/estimate command to assign it to the issue, /spend how much time we have spent on the issue) we need to divide the time for all the members. Board looks fine. To-do stuff we need to that respective week, doing should be actively doing. We need to manually move issues from to-do to doing to reviewing but it will automatically move to closed.

Profile picture readme

TA doesn't care 😊

Merges

It doesn't matter but we should divide them for each member of the team.
Present tense for commits.

Sprints

Starts on Monday and it ends on Sunday, on Monday we make the planning (it would be highly recommended to be done on Monday so the TA can check it) all the work should be in main by Sunday.

Checkstyle

Documentation can explain all the question that we might have. We need to agree on a checkstyle.

Issues

It is good, but it needs to have good division for the task that we are going to put in the issues.

Deadlines

One API endpoint by the end of the week.

Friday 3A and 3B, draft HCI report.

Sunday one merge request one commit and one comment on the merge request.

Information literacy.

Question round

Separate people need to have multiple questions from next week.